INTRODUCTION

Recent events and an emboldened Russian government have led to the resurrection of the 2008 Ossetia Georgian conflict. This time however events have been limited to the Ossetia region. Russian backed Ossetia forces have, after a bitter battle, taken Gori plus adjacent areas to the Southeast and west.

The senior commander of the Ossetia forces has played a very clever game. He is known to his forces as the “The Snake” on account of his astute and sometimes devious strategies.

Western forces have become increasingly concerned as to the escalating events in Caucasus Region. As a result, a combined multinational force has been assembled in the Black Sea off the Georgian coast. This taking the form of a naval fleet with the USS John C. Stennis at its heart.

You, call sign “Ford”, are part of the F18C Hornet unit bound for the Black Sea. Currently you are completing a tour of war games based in Nevada at Groom Lake AFB. Excitement is building whilst all are busy preparing for the imminent trip to join the Fleet in the Black Sea.

This is where all the training becomes reality.
