Situation

Jenny Barnes read me into this mission last night. The CIA is still benefitting from the intelligence haul you and the SEALs delivered. One of the thumb drives recovered was decrypted showing dozens of mobile cell numbers. Many of those numbers belong to high ranking officers and non-military leaders. One of those phones belongs to General Malik Al-Mahdi. He's the leader of the Iranian ground forces and answers only to the Ayatollah.

Based on mobile triangulation, analysts at the CIA have pinpointed his location and you get the privilege of sending him onto the next life.

Blue Task

Activity at the front is intensifying and we'll create a diversionary attack just Southwest of Allabad. This will give your flight the opportunity to egress out towards the search area undetected. We can't tip the General's entourage off to your intentions. This diversionary attack is called Operation Playboy. Once you hear the Old Man give the order, blend in with the assault, but hold back and let the ground pounders punch a hole through their defenses. Slip through and make your way to the center of the search area.

Once you are beyond the FEBA at WP01 make your way towards the search area at WP02 and set your ADF to 777. There aren't many roads traveling South out of Jiroft so based on what our intelligence can assess, we believe you'll encounter his posse somewhere on the route marked on your planning map. We suspect he'll stay on road, so keep your eyes on the roadways. We also know he likes traveling in his custom Luv Tigr. At this point, this is all we know.

MISSION: Eliminate Iranian general
