

MAKING THE MISSION EASIER:

The landing procedure on the Nalchik parking lane might be the most stressful challenge of the mission.

Although I personally really like that stuff, you will perhaps find it too annoying by failing there after spending an hour or so into the mission. Therefore you can make it a little easier by pushing aside the six planes blocking the runway:

Open PART 1 in the MISSION EDITOR, zoom in on Nalchik runway, click on the A-50 symbols and drag them off the runway (the symbols are hidden on the map, so click at the left side on the symbol “units” and mark “SHOW ALL UNITS” to make them visible). Save it.

Then land from the north, as the arrow shows and roll down the taxiway to the Rendezvous Point at the parking lot (this way you also enter the trigger zone).

