

MISSION 5 - DEBRIEFING

Read after completing the mission!

After the weather got better in the afternoon, the couple of aermacchi took off once again to provide support to the troops. On the ground, british marine Rick Strange saw the aircrafts and locked his blowpipe missile onto 4-A-114. The formation saw the missile and started evading, but lacking any defensive countermeasures, there was little they could do. The 2 kg warhead hit 4-A-114 between the cockpit and the wingroot, igniting the fuel tanks and killing the pilot: "Teniente de Corbeta" Daniel Enrique Miguel. The plane, now engulfed in flames, crashed near Goose Green airfield.
