

MISSION 2 - DEBRIEFING

Read after completing the mission!

On the 3rd of May 1982, two MB-339, 4-A-112 and 4-A-113, took off from Puerto Argentino in adverse weather to investigate a possible british helicopter carrier passing near the island. They proceded to the last known location of the ship but due to the poor visibility were unable to find it. During the approach, 4-A-113 under the controls of Carlos Benitez "Chino", was observed by bystanders violently oscillate, probably caught in the leader's wake, before crashing just short of the runway killing its pilot. The first combat mission of the aermacchi already brought its first fatality.
